Metelytsia celebrates 31st Spring Concert

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Bright flowers, flying skirts and lilting music brought a fresh taste of spring to Elk Point Arts and Leisure Centre on Sunday, as the Elk Point Metelytsia Ukrainian Dance Club whirled and leapt their way through their 31st annual Spring Concert for a capacity crowd.

The club's six adult dancers, including club members from previous years, welcomed the crowd with wreaths of flowers and the traditional bread and salt before the senior dancers took over the stage for the Polissian Tanets, the maypole dance. The small but talented Intermediate group did the Flirtation Dance, followed by the tiny beginners with their Vesna.

The senior group was back with Bukoynski Tanets before Bryce Osinchuk went fishing, and when that didn't work, dancing, in his solo. The Junior I group, with their Poltavski Tanets, was followed by Elk Point Elementary School's Glee Club, who performed their unique rendition of "Naturally" by Selena Gomez.

The Intermediates returned to dance the Hutzulka before a most unusual group of cossacks came on stage to leap and cavort, and eventually were found to be the senior girls, performing those challenging moves with skill and grace.

The Junior II group wound up the first half of the show with their Tropak.

The Juniors, Intermediates and Seniors all got involved in the School Days playlet that opened the second half, where the traditional "3Rs" gave way to pyrohy, with some help from Baba and the beginners, and all the fun of a picnic and a good old-fashioned zabava.

A solo by Jaden Plaska, Zirka by the adults, the Railroad Dance by Junior II and the traditional Hopak by the Seniors and the Intermediate boys completed the performance.

Security on chamber agenda

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Security measures for the Elk Point Visitor Information Eco Centre topped the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce agenda last Wednesday, following break-ins at the Eco Centre, the former tourist information centre and the Elk Point Trail Riders cabin.

Unknown persons forced entry through the back door of the Eco Centre, damaging the door to the point where it must be replaced, and destroyed the air conditioner to gain entry to the old tourist information centre. Steel bars and the window frame ripped out of the Trail Riders cabin, the window smashed, and the interior damaged. The break-ins apparently occurred between 10:30 p.m. Monday night and Tuesday morning.

The RCMP "have a lot of theories" about the vandalism, Bob Bezpalko told the chamber. Security is now "our number one issue. RCMP Sgt. Brad Lazicki suggested we install motion lights and a siren."

Bezpalko also reported that stair nosings and trim work in the Eco

Centre are now complete and the cupboards should be done by the end of the week. The FCSS department will be moving in by May 4, "and then we need to get our display cases" for the visitor information material.

Alternate energy expert Andy Viel is back from holidays and the solar panels are now hooked to the centre, following the sun and producing power, 14 kilowatt hours the first day "and reduced our carbon footprint" on the earth, Bezpalko said. "We're shooting for Monday for installing the wind tower."

Chamber

Viel visited China recently and "saw what they're doing there," Bepalko said. "The chamber has started something that can open doors. We are getting calls from around Alberta. You won't believe the attention this is getting us."

Bepalko just returned from the Growing Rural Tourism Conference in Camrose, and will have a report for the next meeting. In brief, he said the conference was "good for the most part. The most interesting part was on demographics."

The chamber heard that the government campsite at Kehewin Lake is on the verge of closure, because the province's attempt to find a municipality to take over its operation have been fruitless to this point.

"I think it's a valuable resource," Bepalko said, adding that Whitney Lakes Provincial Park is "maintaining its status quo."

Musician will be missed

The flying bow has been stilled, the last notes of sweet violin music have floated away on the wind, and the community mourns the passing of talented musician and proud Métis leader Homer Poitras.

Poitras was a familiar figure in our community, where a few years ago, he cut the ribbon to open the Canada Day stage where he performed many times. He was a frequent entertainer at jamborees around the area, including the annual Forts des Prairies Jamboree at Fort George and Buckingham House historic site, where he served for a period as a member of the site's provincially-appointed advisory board.

He was also a frequent visitor to area schools, where he shared his wealth of knowledge about the Métis culture and history.

He was a good friend to many, and a favourite relative of many more in this area, and he will be much missed.

Our condolences to the Poitras family.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Pickers, park, public speaking

Here's the news that made the headlines of the Elk Point Review and the Lakeland Review for the week of April 27 in...

1985

A dozen public health nurses huddled in parkas and fought to hold picket signs aloft in a stiff wind as they marched for wage parity with hospital nurses in the fourth week of their strike action. The Elk Point Review's loss was Elk Point Baptist Church's gain, as advertising manager John McGregor became their full-time pastor.

1990

Elk Point Golf and Country Club was prepared to cooperate with the Town of Elk Point in development and operation of recreation park facilities, to provide the maximum benefit for all local residents, Golf Club president Ed Buck told town council. Mayor Bruce Kleeberger presented community services secretary Lynn Proski with a gift marking five years as a town employee.

1995

MLA Paul Langevin ended months of speculation when he crossed the floor of the Legislature to join Premier Ralph Klein's Progressive Conservatives. Elk Point FCSS department honoured a number of community volunteers at a Volunteer Week luncheon.

2000

Metelytsia Ukrainian Dance Club presented their 21st annual spring concert, with eight "magnificent mommies" from the adult group among the performers. Seven local speakers took part in the Optimist Public Speaking competition in Edmonton.

2005

Northern Lights Library System offered seldom-used warehouse space as the answer to Elk Point's need for a performing arts and cultural activities venue, and met with government and user group representatives to discuss the possibilities. "Each Life Affects Another" was the theme for Elk Point's well-attended Volunteer Week celebration.

The Elk Point Review publishes a variety of opinions as a contribution to debate on matters of public concern. Unsigned editorials express the view of this newspaper's editorial board which includes the Publisher and the Editor. Signed pieces express the view of the individual writer.

NEWS: Hundreds of faulty RCMP Tasers destroyed.

SO THAT'S WHAT THEY'RE GOING WITH?

IT'S THE TASER'S FAULT?!

GUEST COLUMN

An 'aha!' moment

The definition of aha moment is a sudden understanding, recognition, or resolution; (also called aha reaction). To use it in a sentence, one could say: "Once she had that aha moment, she knew how to proceed."

With what has been happening recently with news about the Iceland's volcanoes and the effects it has on people, one wonders if there is such a thing as an "aha moment". When air travel was declared not safe and therefore cancelled in Europe because of the ash in the air, many people were affected. Basically, they couldn't get home. The aha moment would have been – if we had listen to the warnings that a volcano would erupt and therefore predicting the effects of ash in the air, it would be best not to travel by air. Therefore, if one were to think like that, to make any aha moments work, we would have to know everything about everything in the world. Whoa, wait a minute, our brains would be on overload and we wouldn't want to do anything because of our "knowledge" of what might happen would tell us something is going to go wrong. Basically, it would be hard to live like that. Because when you think about it, there is always a mixture in life. Some things work out and some things don't work out. And – if we can learn from what doesn't work out, we benefit. For example, there are volcanic ash resources. Volcanic ash has been used as an abrasive in the United States for about 50 years. As an abrasive, volcanic ash is adapted for use as a polishing, scouring, and cleansing agent because of its firmness, angularity, and moderate hardness. A large proportion of volcanic ash used as an abrasive has gone into scouring compounds such as Old Dutch Cleanser. Formerly these compounds were composed largely of volcanic ash mixed with small quantities of soap powder or other detergents. Volcanic ash is also used as an abrasive in mechanics paste soap, abrasive hand soaps, and rubber erasers. Very fine ash is used in some toothpaste and powder, and minus-200-mesh ash has been used for polishing plate glass. To continue with examples, volcanic ash is used as the chief ingredient in some sweeping compounds, as an insulation for packing water and steam pipes, lagging boilers, and as a loose fill insulation in walls and ceilings. It is also used as a filler or diluent in paint and as a carrier for insecticides. So the aha moment would be, yes the volcano erupted, but it isn't all bad because there can be some resources found in the ashes.

EASTHOPE
from the FCSS desk

Meanwhile, people are affected and the aha moment hasn't happened for some yet. This reminds me of a story about the milky white Carrara, which is the rarest and most costly marble. It is found on the Island of Brac in the country of Croatia. Sculptors who lived during the Golden Age of Tuscan Sculpture claimed that it was the purest substance God ever created, and they longed for the feel of it beneath their hands. Any sculptor who was commissioned by a wealthy patron of the arts to create a statue of Carrara marble felt himself to be highly favored. Sculpting in marble was neither fast nor easy. In addition to innate talent, it required both careful analysis and tedious, backbreaking work. The artist would have to study the block of marble to determine its essential nature. He would then need to discover the direction of the grain and ascertain the presence of any flaws. He had to make careful and precise plans and drawings which were in accord with the structure of the marble itself. Then, with consummate care, he would begin to chip off the superfluous marble, layer by layer, until he revealed the form he had envisioned. Any mistake could be disastrous. If the sculptor went against the grain he could crack the marble; if he struck a blow with too much force he could mash the crystals beneath the surface, creating holes and ruining the sculpture. This seldom happened with the greatest of sculptors, who labored with infinite care and supreme sensitivity. (The Taj Mahal is made of marble.)

Marble, like volcanic ash is one of Nature's creations. This story about the best marble can be likened to Nature giving us volcanic ash in the air. Volcanic ash it is not marble, but maybe there will be some good derived from receiving volcanic ash. When it is discovered, that will be the aha moment.

MacEwan graduate Emily Mosley and former teacher Brenda Bintz with Emily's "Cultural Shift."

INFORMATION SUBMITTED
F. G. Miller High School art teacher Brenda Bintz and 35 senior high Art students traveled to Edmonton on April 20 to tour the MacEwan Fine Arts Grad Show and the Art Gallery of Alberta.

"The students were all very excited and proud to see one of the graduates, Emily Mosley, and her artwork," Bintz said. Emily graduated from F.G. Miller School in 2008. Emily sold one of her the paintings, "Cultural Shift" to the Edmonton City Police. Rose Clancy, the director of admissions for the Fine Arts program, provided a commentary on the graduates' show and said how very proud the College is of Emily's artistic accomplishments.

"Emily was very successful in her art studies," Bintz said. Her talents were evident by the number of pieces of work that she had in the Grad Show, including a self-portrait and a still life called, "Catfish." Emily also had a short film on display, she noted.

Many of the multi-media projects displayed were unique and unusual, Bintz said, and he students were able to experience the installation art.

After lunch, the students continued on their art field trip to the new Art Gallery of Alberta. "The building design is incredibly unique," Bintz said, "and the concave and convex walls provide the architectural art which surrounds the art inside. The spiral staircases that wind up the three-story building were an additional interesting experience for participants." The gallery is situated on the corner near Sir Winston Churchill Square.

At the gallery the students were separated into smaller groups, and under the guidance of gallery staff, participated in an art viewing tour.

"Unfortunately, photos were not permitted to be taken inside the gallery" Bintz said.

Many of the displays are on loan from other galleries or private collections, and are often priceless works of art. The bronze statue of a ballerina, in the Degas - Figures in Motion, Gallery, is an example. The statue was flown to Canada, under the watchful eyes of its own security guard, and a security guard sits with her in the gallery.

When Bintz asked her students what they enjoyed at the art gallery, "they selected the Storm gallery and the Murder of Crows gallery. They said there were no words to describe what it feels like to be in an interactive art display; it truly epitomized experience art."

At the end of the day, the group stopped off at Jasper Ave. and 124th Street and spent some time looking at the various art galleries and shops.

The field trip was made possible by generous donations of local businesses and companies. E-Can sponsored admission to the Art Gallery of Alberta and CNRL, Hahn Welding, and B and R contributed toward transportation costs, enabling many more students to participate due to the reduced cost for students to travel. The field trip was for students who had completed a senior high art course or currently in one of the courses.

Bintz has been taking students on art field trips for the past several years, and says there has been such an increase in the number of students who elect to take art in senior high that a coach bus is needed to accommodate all the interested students. She had planned to take the students every second year, "but the day after the trip the students would like to go back to the gallery when the exhibits change. It is great when kids are inspired," Bintz said.

What is a School Division Pow Wow?

All parents, community members and dancers are invited to attend the St. Paul Education Regional Division Number No. 1 School Division Pow Wow on June 4, starting at 10 a.m. on the recreation grounds in the Goodfish Lake community. This one-day event is a smaller scale of a regular three-day Traditional Pow Wow. This cultural tradition is intended to create an awareness of and showcase Cree culture and traditional teachings; to instill and support the identity of First Nation, Métis and Inuit (FNMI) students; and to continue building on the relationships with the neighboring First Nations communities. The division FNMI committee plans the event with the assistance of elders, community members and First Nation leaders. All traditional protocol is followed and respected. In the two previous years, Division Pow Wows were held in Saddle Lake and Frog Lake.

Almost a thousand students will be attending and/or participating in this year's event. The division believes the Pow Wow is important in bringing different cultures together to celebrate a traditional custom that is a part of our Canadian heritage. The Division Pow Wow can be directly tied to school curriculum at every grade level and it is a way for all of our students to learn about Cree culture and to celebrate as one community.

This monthly series is brought to you by the Board of Trustees from St. Paul Education Regional Division No. 1. If you have a question for us, please visit our website at www.stpauleducation.ab.ca or phone your local trustee (780 prefix): Darrell Younghans 943-2460; Deb Pederson 366-2533; Ron Rudkowsky 367-2243; Rhonda Lafrance 645-7125; Don Padlesky 645-5659; Steve Upham 726-2195; Maureen Miller 645-3105.

Heinsburg students raise pennies for patients

SUBMITTED

Heinsburg Community School, which consists of 150 students, 12 teachers and 10 support staff, participated in The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society of Canada's sixth annual Pennies for Patients program. This is the second year Heinsburg took part in the program and we are very proud of our students for working so hard to support the quest to wipe out blood cancers. This year our students raised $621.50. We had a number of classroom challenges that brought a lot of excitement and enthusiasm to this program. The classroom that raised the most money will be treated to a pizza party. Heinsburg Community School looks forward to being a part of this program again in March 2011. We are proud of the way all the students, staff and families supported Pennies for Patients!

Baseball at last!

And now back to the ball game. Looks like winter is over again after its little blast on Friday. Thursday night was such a beautiful night that the Midget Sox boys practiced right until dark, then had their usual barbecue.

Baseball Alberta released the midget schedule on Friday, with 24 teams entered from across Alberta. The Sox will be opening at home, hosting a five team tournament on May 8 and 9, with Bonnyville, Lac La Biche, Vegreville and Athabasca all coming to town.

The great thing about the Baseball Alberta league is that it is re-tiered every month until the provincial final at the end of July. The Sox will play eight games in the month of May then see how they stand, moving up or down accordingly. The tiering system was introduced as a pilot project in 2004 and worked so well it was adopted after that season, replacing the old single A, double A, triple A system. No matter what tier you end up in, you play competitive games, with the scores one or two runs apart and often going into extra innings to decide a winner.

A few years ago the Sox ending up playing in tier four, then one year we made the jump to tier three, then the last two years we were tier two, in fact, the top team in tier two last year. Tier one is where the best teams in the province end up playing. The winner of the tier one goes on to play in the Westerns. It's still early to make a prediction, but the Sox team looks great this year.

And the Sox have some great history, providing competitive baseball for midget aged kids in our area since 1996. About 100 young men from Elk Point, Dewberry, St. Paul, Cold Lake and Bonnyville have played for the Sox. The Sox have hosted nine provincial final tournaments, they won one provincial silver medal in 2008 and two provincial gold medals, the first in 2003 right here in Elk Point and again last year when they brought home the gold for a second time from Rocky Mountain House.

This history is starting to rub off on some of the younger groups who are inspired to be just like the Midget Sox and will be dressing the same as the older boys in some brand new black and white uniforms this year, thanks to the hard work of some of the new parents who got involved last year and raised the funds making this possible. But it shouldn't end here, Elk Point Minor Ball could do so much more with a little bit of your help. Tonight we will be holding a general information meeting for all the new parents, just to get everyone on board with the league schedules, uniforms, team pictures, and possible positions on the team, that you can easily fill, so your child can have a successful season, like coach or manager, scorekeeper, equipment manager, or at the very least just a driver and a fan!

And now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week. "The Stanley Cup can look like a beautiful wedding cake, its bands of inscribed names cascading the length of the column that supports the bowl. A looser interpretation might be that it more closely resembles the gizmo that a local garage pulls under a car's crankcase for an oil change." Last week's answer to: "Hockey is a children's game played by men. Since it is a children's game, the men who play it should have fun." – Fred Shero. Do you have a sports scoop? Now you can email them to sportshound007@hotmail.com

The Sox coaching staff of Doug Bassett, Remi Joly and Lorn Berg will be back for another season.

Bad Actors entertain Lodge volunteers

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Heritage Lodge's many volunteers was well entertained on Tuesday night, when frequent lodge entertainers Roy, Clayton and the Three Js backed up the lodge's own Bad Actors in a riotous "Volunteer Medley," in recognition of Volunteer Week.

Lenore Bjornstad pantomimed her befuddlement to "My Memory Lies Over the Ocean" and Mildred Boyko wrung her hands to "Singing the Blues" before Winnie Shepherd wheeled in to join them around the table while the musicians played, "There is a Lodge Here in the Town" and "Take Me Out to the Card Game." Helga Vaughan and Roger Theroux added their acting talents to accompany "Give a Little, Take a Little" and "Side by Side."

After the senior thespians took a well-deserved bow, musicians Roy and Janet Cousineau, Joan Triplett and Judy and Clayton Gambler continued on with more great country classics.

Conty boundaries bylaw passed

By JANICE HUSER Review Contributor

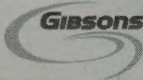

County of St. Paul council passed the second and third readings of Bylaw 1545 on April 20, which means the changes to the division boundaries within the County of St. Paul as presented a couple months ago, are now set.

There are now six electoral wards within the county instead of seven, and these division boundaries will be in effect for the next municipal election, this fall. Public hearings were held on March 11 in St. Paul and Elk Point for residents to become informed about the division changes.

The changes were made because of a plebiscite that was held in late October of last year, asking county residents if they would prefer the county switch to a reeve at large system. The majority of voters said yes to the change, which required an even number of divisions, to ensure an odd number of elected officials sit on council.

Ratepayers will now directly vote for a reeve, instead of allowing the elected councillors choose a reeve from amongst themselves.

In the
F. G. Miller
spotlight...

Student of the Week

Aaron Graus

Aaron is an official reading machine! Aaron is the top A.R. point earner for all of F. G. Miller – earning well over 100 reading points every term. In fact, Aaron is such a reading superstar that his Language Arts classmates and teacher gave him a challenge: earn 425 points by June 14. Good luck and keep up the good work! Aaron is also member of the Student's Union and can be spotted helping out at school functions throughout the year.

Athlete of the Week

Brendan Bishop

Brendan Bishop was the representative for the Intermediate Boys Singles player for F. G. Miller School as the SPAA badminton tournament that was held at various schools in St. Paul.

Leading up to the tournament, Brendan had many good practices where he would play opponents, including Mr. Casper in singles play. Brendan would also play as a singles player against a doubles team and frequently would do very well against them and occasionally beat the doubles team.

Brendan did well at SPAA with only one loss in the round robin and one in the playoffs to finish with a bronze. Brendan did this with very little rest going into the playoffs, as the luck of the draw had him basically playing three opponents in a row.

Brendan always showed good sportsmanship and was an excellent representative for F. G. Miller School.
